

ARTiculation Wiltshire Regional Final

Tuesday 6 March 2018
New Art Centre
Adjudicated by Emma Goltz

Congratulations to speakers from Bournemouth and Poole College, Christ the King College, Clayesmore School, Maiden Erlegh School, St Mary's Shaftesbury, St Swithun's School, The Burgate School and Sixth Form Centre, Winchester College

ARTiculation 2018 New Art Centre Regional Final Speakers with Emma Goltz

Stacey Oguna represented Maiden Erlegh School in the regional heat of Articulation – a national Art competition for public speaking. She based her presentation on Chris Ofili's 'The Cadged Bird's Song' which is a piece of artwork she independently visited 3 times to inform her research. She spoke fluently and successfully and answered a challenging question by adjudicator Emma Goltz which tested her ability to read around the subject. Whilst Stacey did not go through to the next round she should feel very proud of her ability to present her research without using her reference notes and the confidence to extend herself outside of her comfort zone. The articulation team said of Stacey:

'She was a fantastic participant, very supportive of the other students, and we all really enjoyed hearing her touching presentation!'

